

Department of Curriculum and Pedagogy
March 31, 2022

The Department of Curriculum and Pedagogy has opportunity for part-time Sessional appointment. We are accepting applications for the following course:

Research Methodology in Education

EDUC 500 93A (Seminar) online

Credits: 3

Location: Online

Term 1 (May 16, 2022 to June 22, 2022)

The Social Studies M.Ed. program serves a diverse cohort of elementary and secondary educators in considering theories, principles, and practices in social studies education. EDUC 500 is a foundational course in research methodologies and methods, focused on improving practice through the study of educational research in Social Studies

Applicants must have a recognized PhD degree with relevant teaching and academic expertise for this graduate course. Applicants should have:

- experience in the K–12 and post-secondary education systems,
- experience with qualitative, quantitative, and critical research.

Duties include teaching, holding regular office hours, marking assignments, reporting grades, consulting and planning with the Cohort Coordinator, as well as follow-up appointments, where applicable.

Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. An open and diverse community fosters the inclusion of voices that have been underrepresented or discouraged. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Letters of application along with a current resume or CV are submitted to
