

Department of Curriculum and Pedagogy
July 26, 2022

The Department of Curriculum and Pedagogy has opportunity for a part-time Sessional Lecturer. We are accepting applications for the following course:

EDCP 492 63A (Lecture)
Special Study in Home Economics: Textile Studies

Theoretical underpinnings and pedagogical, social and economic implications of 21st century technology-enhanced mathematics and science education.

Term 1 (Sep 06, 2022 to Dec 07, 2022)

Mode of Delivery: Online
No In-Person Attendance

Applicants must have a minimum of a recognized doctoral degree, preferably in home economics education. Ideally, applicants will have experience in teacher education. Experience with the Canadian K–12 school system's structure and services and with the various stakeholder groups, along with authorities involved in the provision of education is necessary. Duties include teaching, holding regular office hours, marking assignments, reporting grades, attending subject area meetings as well as follow-up appointments, where applicable.

Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. An open and diverse community fosters the inclusion of voices that have been underrepresented or discouraged. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Letters of application along with a current resume or CV are to be submitted to Deadline is August 5, 2022.

Due to the number of applications we receive, we are unable to confirm receipt of submissions over the phone or through the mail, nor can we provide the status of applicants except to those who are selected for an interview. Also, due to scheduling and workload changes and plans within the Department, deadlines for applications may change and new job postings may be uploaded. We will try to indicate these changes but it is the responsibility of potential applicants to check the website periodically for changes.
